Adobe PDF is the emerging workflow standard in the $400 billion publishing industry and plays a key role in financial services, regulated industries, and government, with more than 155 agencies worldwide sharing Adobe PDF files.

An eBrief is the collection of hyperlinked documents related to a specific motion or filing. It incorporates the motion(s) as well as the cited materials (typically exhibits, cases, and transcripts as well as other cited documents). These are all organized electronically and hyperlinked so the judge, clerk, or other trier-of-fact can easily read and review the motion. This eBrief manual was created with small firms and solo practitioners in mind, but there are many others in the legal profession who will also find it useful. In addition to attorneys, litigation support teams tasked with creating eBriefs will benefit greatly. Additionally, there is a lot of useful information here for eBrief vendors who may want to explore other ways to create their product or fine tune their skills. Basically, there is something for everyone.

most PDF books are written by people with graphics backgrounds and mindset. Donna has both a graphics and business background while Tom has a strong engineering, industrial and governmental background. This book provides real solutions for professionals working in industry, government, healthcare, and print environments.

This ILT Series course will teach students how to use Adobe Acrobat 7.0 Professional to create and modify PDF documents, create bookmarks and links, apply document security and digital signatures, initiate and manage reviews, create interactive PDF forms, and prepare PDF documents for professional print production. Students should be comfortable using a personal computer and Windows XP, but should have little or no experience using Acrobat 7.0 Professional.

Professional graphics designers will welcome this practical guide to Acrobat 5 because it tells why and when to use processes, as well as how. Includes projects, tutorials and demonstrations.
