This manual provides an overview of both criminal justice and public safety. It discusses the relevant agencies, their functions, and the information systems typically used by these agencies. It contains an extensive glossary and lists functional standards, funding agencies, justice organizations and associations and their websites. It was primarily written for any technologist or business analyst tasked with working on information systems within the fields of criminal justice and public safety.

This reference manual has been developed as a supplement to the POST telecourse. Similar to its companion video program, this guide provides information to assist peace officers at all levels in making consistent and well-founded ethical decisions in the law enforcement environment. A three-part video presentation by Mr. Michael Josephson, a leading authority on ethics in public service, serves as a basis for this manual. Josephson's ethical principles are highlighted following the opening orientation. An overview of ethical decision making is also provided followed by four related models or theories of ethics decisions. Short scenarios designed to prompt further discussion of ethical decision-making follow each group of ethical values. Additional reference information relating to ethics in law enforcement is provided at the conclusion of the manual.
