A graphic novel relates the life experiences, from birth to beginning boarding school, of a Muslim boy growing up on a rubber plantation in rural Malaysia in the 1950s that include mischief-making, fishing trips, religious study, and work on his family's rubber plantation.

A continuation of 1994's groundbreaking Cartoons, GianniBerbo Bendazzi's Animation: A World History is the largest, deepest, most comprehensive text of its kind, based on the idea that animation is an art form that deserves its own place in scholarship. Bendazzi delves beyond just Disney, offering readers glimpses into the animation of Russia, Africa, Latin America, and other often-neglected areas and introducing over fifty previously undiscovered artists. Full of first-hand, never before investigated, and elsewhere unavailable information, Animation: A World History encompasses the history of animation production on every continent over the span of three centuries. Volume III catches you up to speed on the state of animation from 1991 to present. Although characterized by such trends as economic globalization, the expansion of television series, emerging markets in countries like China and India, and the consolidation of elitist auteur animation, the story of contemporary animation is still open to interpretation. With an abundance of first-hand research and topics ranging from Nickelodeon and Pixar to modern Estonian animation, this book is the most complete record of modern animation on the market and is essential reading for all serious students of animation history.
Key Features
Over 200 high quality head shots and film stills to add visual reference to your research
Detailed information on hundreds of never-before researched animators and films
Coverage of animation from more than 90 countries and every major region of the world
Chronological and geographical organization for quick access to the information you're looking for

These coloring book patterns are inspired by the elegance of Marie Antoinette/iera clothes, dishes, jewelry, and more. The ornate outlines are printed in both black and shimmering bronze metallic inks, making every colored-in page a work of art.

Animation has had a global renaissance during the 1990s, and nowhere is this more evident than in Asia. With the exception of China and Japan, most Asian nations are relatively new to this art form. Over the last decade, countries such as Taiwan, South Korea, the Philippines, and Thailand, as well as China, have acted as major offshore production plants for North American and European studios. One of the spurs for this increase in activity has been the global growth of terrestrial, cable, satellite, and video systems, all demanding large menus of programming, including animation. A second spur has been the exceptional popularity that Japanese animé has enjoyed across Asia, Europe, and the United States. Despite these developments, there has not been corresponding growth of a serious literature covering industrial and aesthetic issues about Asian animation, and the small amount of work that has been produced has not been published in English. Animation in Asia and the Pacific provides the first continent-wide analysis, delving into issues of production, distribution, exhibition, aesthetics, and regulation in this burgeoning field. Animation in Asia and the Pacific also offers vignettes of the fascinating experiences of a group of animation pioneers. The historical and contemporary perspectives derive from interviews, textual analysis, archival research, and participation/observation data.

Oh man! I'm finished! I accidentally did something at school! And iBob! is REALLY angry with me. You don't know who Bob is! He's the worst thug in school! no, wait. Make that in the whole world! Ustaz said, a Muslim's weapon is DU'IA. That's why I must fight Bob using du'ia. (I'm not going to survive a fist fight against him, NO WAY). The PROBLEM is, I only memorise the du'ia before meals. Oh man! WHAT SHOULD I DO?

This is a short book of experimental poetry by Maria Morisot, also known as Moan Lisa.

In all my life, I've only prayed three times. The first time, during Eid al Fitri. The second, during Eid al Adha. And the third, during my grandmother's janazah prayer a few months ago. Mom and dad didn't pray that I don't pray. My previous ustazs and ustazahs didn't too. Same as my brother and sister because they didn't perform prayer too. But, suddenly this ustaz Azhar cares. That's why I started this book of doodles. I need to learn how to perform a prayer and all the things about solat, I'm going to put it here. I have one week until the test. I HAVE to know how to perform a prayer before that time comes. I am going to do all it takes as long as I'm not placed in detention by Ustaz Azhar. Seriously!!!

Narcotorerism wreks havoc on the world as drug cartels operate as dominating, murderous dictatorships. The powerful Irish Drug Cartel has set up drug manufacturing plants around the world and they will kill anyone who gets in their way. Sarah is an ambitious policewoman from an antiterrorist unit. She's also smart, beautiful, and extremely good at her job, which is why she is assigned to an Interpol Incident Response Team in Manchester, set up to find and stop The Cartel. Alongside colleagues from the United Kingdom's SAS, she must quickly learn new Close Quarters Battle tactics and apply them to a vengeful and threatening battlefield. Sarah's investigation appears to be going well until the fight turns personal. She must now struggle to save her friends, family, and even herself. Spanning the globe with a keen knowledge of special forces tactics and some genuinely shocking twists, this book warns of a bloody, drug-addled future we may soon face.
