to the design process. They will face consumer-related issues and learn to make wise consumer decisions. The highly visual format enhances learning, with the latest information on technology developments and professional practices. Homes: Today & Tomorrow is usually used in grades 10-12.

Homes & Interiors offers content appropriate for both an interior design course and a consumer-based housing course. This edition places even greater emphasis on the interior design process. Units 1 & 2 address housing from a consumer point-of-view. Units 3 & 4 focus on the actual structure and style of homes. Units 5 & 6 familiarize students with the interior design process. Special topics that are highlighted include Consumer Considerations, Commercial Applications, The Impact of Technology, and Careers in Housing and Interiors. Homes & Interiors introduces students to the myriad of career pathways in housing and interior design.

Current and emerging uses of technology can bring about qualitatively positive changes to the delivery of student services and the design of programs intended to promote student involvement and learning. Student affairs professionals need to grapple with many critical issues that have developed with the increased use of technology, including strategic planning process needs, financial and infrastructure issues, policy implications, curricular issues for college student affairs graduate programs, and ethical considerations. This volume of New Directions for Student Services explores these issues and provides strategies to envision and prepare for the unpredictable future in relation to the ever-changing information technology environment. This is the 78th issue of New Directions for Student Services. For more on the series, please see the Journals and Periodicals page.

market. This volume is based on new, original research which brings together specialists in housing policy and legal studies, with their common and increasingly interdependent knowledge base about the privately rented sector and its future direction. The collection opens with an overview of the historical context and recent changes to the sector, such as the rapid and continued expansion of the buy-to-let market, followed by a discussion of the factors shaping the contemporary market. The contributors show how the new regulatory environment is opening a series of issues with significant potential to affect (and potentially damage) the market. The volume will interest academics and students in social and public policy, law and housing studies, as well as law practices and housing authorities.
