Isabel Luberza Oppenheimer was born in the San Anton neighborhood of Ponce, Puerto Rico, on 23 July 1901. Apart from her business as a madam, well documented in many Puerto Rican newspapers such as El Dia and El Vocero, not much is known about her early life. One widely circulated version is that Isabel left home as a young teenager to live with a wealthy man only to find out that he was married.

Among the lasting legacies of the Chicano Movement is the cultural flowering that it inspired--one that has steadily grown from the 1960s to the present. It encompassed all of the arts and continues to earn acclaim both nationally and internationally. Although this Chicano artistic renaissance received extensive scholarly attention in its initial phase, the post-Movimiento years after the late 1970s have been largely overlooked. This book meets that need, demonstrating that, despite the changes that have taken place in all areas of Chicana/o arts, a commitment to community revitalization continues to underlie artistic expression. This collection examines changes across a broad range of cultural forms--art, literature, music, cinema and television, radio, and theater--with an emphasis on the last two decades. Original articles by both established and emerging scholars review such subjects as the growth of Tejano music and the rise of Selena, how films and television have affected the Chicana/o experience, the evolution of Chicana/o art over the last twenty years, and postmodern literary trends. In all of the essays, the contributors emphasize that, contrary to the popular notion that Chicanas/os have succumbed to a victim mentality, they continue to actively struggle to shape the conditions of their lives and to influence the direction of American society through their arts and social struggle. Despite decades usually associated with self-interest in the larger society, the spirit of commitment and empowerment has continued to infuse Chicana/o cultural expression and points toward a vibrant future.

Russian mobs are moving into the mafia business, and there is no one among them to lead. There is a meeting at Mulberry Street, birthplace of the American mafia. There was confusion in the meeting until Tony from Chicago mentioned the name of Tony Defeo. There was silence in the room, and they agreed he was the man; but where was he? Joe Pagano answered and let them know he was alive and he can contact him, but they must all agree they will back him 100 percent if he returns, no going back. They all agreed he was the man to restore the power of the mafia again In the USA, because he was born to be the mafia don of the USA. Now began the greatest chess game that Tony had played in his life. Just like in chess, you have to anticipate your opponent's every move, and the minimum is six. So Tony must anticipate the moves of the young Turks in their rebellion, as well as the Columbian, Jamaican, and the Russian mobs, because they will not let go what they have without a fight, just like he will fight to get back what belongs to them. But last but not least to Tony, there is the FBI, who have been wanting to know where he has been for the last twenty-five years; but that is the least of his worries.
