illustrations and a message of love. When Steve and Derek adopted a mini pig named Esther, they had no idea that she would turn out to be not-so-mini after all. When her new family saw just how big and wonderful Esther really was, they fell in love--and their lives changed forever. Esther would soon grow too large for her bed, and their small apartment. She got into everything, including her neighbor's tasty garden. So the whole family moved from a small apartment to a big farm, where Esther and her animal friends could fit happily (and get into a little less mischief). Eventually, that farm would become the Happily Esther After animal sanctuary, home to rescued animals of all kinds.

If you are lucky enough to be blessed with the gift of kids, it will soon become apparent that you have also been handed a miniature Teacher's Edition to the Book of Life. You won't find all of the answers of course, but glimmers of insight will flash before you, affording a much better perspective as to where each piece of the puzzle might fit. Many answers to life's mysteries will be laid right out in front of you, sometimes while an infant snuggles in your arms, more often while the baby crawls across the living room toward the basement steps... just about time you need to grab that tiny, bare foot. I used to think the emotional bond between a parent and child defined the most meaningful connection possible in the human experience. Having my own family of gave my life purpose and direction. It wasn't until the grandchildren came along though, that I began to fully appreciate the profound depth of unconditional love that transcends time and connects the hearts and spirits of those from every generation. When my children were growing up, I was so consumed by the struggle to fulfill the duties of responsibility, that I didn't have time to appreciate the magic around me. But with arrival of grandchildren came the opportunity to step back and marvel at the intuitive wisdom kids share every day with innocent eloquence. The following pages are an earnest effort to share with you, just a few of the fun, honest moments I've been able to capture of my children and grandchildren over the years, and to relate some of the sensible life lessons they have inadvertently imparted on me along the way. I sincerely hope you have as much fun paging through these moments as I did photographing them and creating the picture book.
